Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 17 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Feeling warm with sunny spells.

Today:
Dry morning with sunny spells over the region. A very thin layer of high cloud will cover the sky but will clear during the afternoon for even brighter conditions. Breezy but feeling mild and perhaps warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry with clear spells during the evening and overnight. Cloud developing over eastern parts and spreading across the region towards dawn. Light winds and feeling chilly. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Thursday:
A largely dry day for most of the region. A risk of drizzle over the northern coast and sunny spells for the east. Remaining mild with light winds. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Generally dry for Friday with short lived showers in the east and sunny intervals elsewhere. Remaining dry and cloudy for Saturday and Sunday. Becoming a little cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.